Jefferson City, Mo., April 9.—The Senate went on record today as opposed to substitutes of certain kinds for leather in the manufacture of boots and shoes. It adopted a measure introduced by Senator Bradley on this subject and ordered it to engrossment without opposition.

This act makes it unlawful without penalties attached for any person or firm to manufacture and offer for sale in this State "any boot or shoe with a counter, heel, insole or outsole or slipsole made in whole or in part of any substitute for leather whatsoever without clearly and legibly and in the English language, stamping with a metal die, in plain view upon the outside of the outsole" where and by whom such was made and what substitute for leather has been used.

The act is to go into effect Jan. 1, 1910.

PROHIBITION BILL ENGROSSED IN HOUSE

Last Ballot Comes Wednesday. Then to Senate and to People at Polls

Jefferson City, Mo., April 9.—The State wide prohibition constitutional amendment was engrossed by the House this afternoon after it had been amended to become effective January 1, 1913.

The vote on engrossment was 86 to 45.

Several members who voted for engrossment said they will vote against the measure on final passage.

All tax riders were defeated. The fate of the amendment in the Senate is in doubt, but its chances for being passed are considered good.

Leading Senators do not like the way the matter has lined up. The House Democrats practically endorsing prohibition. This feature may defeat the amendment in the Democratic Senate.

The amendment comes up for final consideration, under a special order at 3 p. m. Wednesday.

The roll call that sent the amendment to the calendar for engrossment proved conclusively that politics did not enter into its approval, although Mr. Rhodes, of Washington County, endeavored, as the discussion drew to a close, to lay the blame on the Democrats.

Those opposing the submission of the amendment were blocked in the three attempts made to burden it with a tax rider.

They did succeed, however, in obtaining a compromise in the shape of an amendment to the prohibition amendment which stipulates that its provisions shall not become effective until January 1, 1913.

In the Haseltine orchards west of the city crude oil lamps were kept burning. Forecaster Hazen said yesterday that he expected another frost this morning but that he did not believe it would be heavy enough to cause any damage.—Springfield Republican.

Everybody Wants It

Some people are yearning for love and some long
To win the bright laurels of fame;
There are people who covet the gift of sweet song,
And some knightly prowess would claim;
But that which appears to most people today—
And you probably yearn for it, too—
Is a job that is steady, with mighty good pay,
And where there is little to do.

HADLEY LIQUOR PLATFORM

Stricter Regulation, He Hopes, Will Reduce Prohibits' Chance

Jefferson City, Mo., April 11.—"Crowd the books with good local option laws and measures looking to the strictest regulation of the liquor traffic and the chance of the people adopting State-wide prohibition at the polls is reduced to a minimum."

The foregoing statement, made by Representative R. D. Calkins, of Crawford County, yesterday, revealed the policy outlined by Governor Hadley and his lieutenants in the Legislature to side track prohibition, which, it is now generally admitted, will be submitted to the people for decision nearly two years hence.

The Governor is opposed to prohibition, and does not hesitate to say so in private, though his special message to the General Assembly last week but inferentially disclosed his views. He believes in regulative liquor measures.
